Robbers broke into the Melcher Grocery store in Frankfort late last Friday night and made off with a 400 pound safe which deputies said would have taken three men to carry.

The burglary was discovered Saturday morning when Mr. Melcher opened the store for business and noticed that the glass in the door on the east side of the building had been broken. Upon investigating further, he found the safe missing with $100 to $200 in cash, and checks which the grocer had taken in the day earlier.

Joliet police were immediately notified and later found the safe, empty, at the Homewood police station where it had been taken by the Cook County police who had been called on Saturday morning by Mr. Schmeckel of Mokena. The latter, driving at Harlem and Sauk road had noticed the safe in a ditch there, and notified the Cook county officials.

Mr. Melcher states that he did not leave the store until after 11 p.m. Friday night. The robbery took place between then and early Saturday morning.

The same night of the Frankfort robbery, the VFW hall in Mokena was broken into and thieves took $14 in cash from the register, two cartons of cigarettes, and a bottle of whiskey.

C. F. COLCORD
DIES; LAST
RITES IN EAST

Mr. Charles F. Colcord, well known cattle and horse buyer and real estate promoter, died in Silver Cross hospital, Joliet, June 10. Mr. Colcord had had his dinner in Tinley Park the evening of June 5 and sometime during that night suffered another paralytic stroke. He was discovered by a neighbor, Mrs. Hendricks who looked for him when she had not seen him all day and found him in a serious condition. She called Mr. Harry Mall at Mokena, a long time and close friend, who at once went to his home, called a doctor and then he was removed to Silver Cross hospital.

Following his death the body was removed to the Schmaedeke funeral home in Orland Park and from there was shipped to relatives at Haverhill, Mass., where funeral services were conducted. Burial was made in the family lot at Effingham, New Hampshire.

With the passing of Mr. Colcord went the last few remaining visage of characteristics of the sturdy pioneer people who founded this country.

In a Family Tree book of the Colcord family, which he showed to his few friends, it disclosed to a few friends, it disclosed this country from Hants county, England in 1630, and landed at Kingston, New Hampshire. He was born Sept. 23, 1867 at Parsonfield, Maine. His parents were Henry A. F. and Nancy Colcord. He was the last of that family, a sister being deceased and a brother John died two years ago.

Mr. Colcord came to Chicago in 1893 where he ran a livery stable on the southside. Later he became general manager of the Western Live Stock company at the Chicago stock yards. In 1902 he went to Tucuman, New Mexico as a horse mule and cattle dealer. He often drove herds across country and when passing the area of Alpine, he thought it a nice place to live. In one such trek, he stayed overnight in the Schaeffer hotel in then the growing village of Alpine. In 1908 he bought property in Alpine where he has lived since. He was well acquainted with the promotion of Alpine when it was subdivided in 1893 by a man named Cratie. Lots were 25 feet in width and was sold for one dollar down and a dollar a week. A right of way was surveyed for a street car line from St. Louis, Mo., to Chicago. But when Mr. Cratie went broke, the village of Alpine was lost in the haze.

Mr. Colcord plowed the first furrow for the building of the Columbia World's exposition in Chicago in 1893 with a pair of oxen. It was for the Exposition building. He also did the same for The Century of Progress exposition in Chicago.

For the past eight years Mr. Colcord would drive his small Crosley car to Hot Springs, Ark. and spend the winter there where he had bought a tract of 47 acres. He seemed real well when he returned this spring.

Mr. Colcord is survived by a nephew and two nieces who live in the east. It is expected they will come here to settle his estate.

GALS BATTLE RATTLE SNAKE;
'TAILS' BULL

Through the courtesy of employees of the Forest Preserve district, who might be laughing up their sleeves just a little bit, residents of 102 Ave. Alpine are being presented with a book on snakes.

It all started Monday morning when Mrs. Henry Felsch stepped out on her porch in time to see a large snake coil itself up, make a rattling noise, and propel itself about three yards through the air towards one of her cats. Worried, Mrs. Felsch called the home of her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Felsch. Seeing that something unusual was going on, Mrs. Albert Reeves and Mrs. Edward Mrosek soon joined the procession to the Henry Felsch home.

It was Mrs. William Felsch who bravely dealt the blow behind the head that rendered the snake harmless. The snake appeared to fit the description of a Timber Rattler, except that it had no rattlers, but observers thought the queer looking tail tip might be intended for such adornment.

Mrs. Mrosek made a call to the Forest Preserve district and learned that there are bull snakes in the district very similar in appearance and action to the Timber rattler, which sound very much like rattlers when switching its tail through dry leaves etc.

Two Orland township high school youths figured in a tragedy Tuesday when one of them drowned in Michigan Beach quarry, despite the heroic efforts of the other.

The drowned boy, Ronald Gale, 16, son of John and Imogene Shroats Gale of Alpine, was a freshman at Orland-Palos Community high school. The lad drowned when he slipped from the intertube on which he had been floating and sank beneath the surface of the water.

The other youth, a school friend and next door neighbor, John Semetis, 17, a senior, saw the incident and promptly tossed the tube back for Ronnie's assistance. The struggling lad appeared to throw the tube from him, but in probability his arm struck it and the makeshift preserver was swept out of his grasp.

Ronald apparently panicked, and went down. Young Semetis dove for him and grasped him by the hair. The pair struggled in the water, Ronald finally pulling his would be rescuer down with him. At the bottom of the 30 feet of water in which the tragedy occurred, the Semetis boy finally broke away from the vised grip of the Gale boy, and was able to reach the surface. Ronald did not come up again.

Others then dove to his assistance, but without success. The body was recovered in 50 feet of water about 12:50 p.m., by Gene Conroy, 505 Rowell ave., a barber, after city and county police had resorted to grappling hooks in the search. The young people had arrived at the beach shortly after noon they said.

The Gale boy had not ventured into the water before, having previously been only a spectator on shore. He was unable to swim.

Born January 19, 1938, in Ash ley, Ohio, the young man came to this area with his family, about three years ago. He was described as a quiet boy, and was not given to "bravado" or stunts, his friends stated.

Fireman Thaddeus Rydzon and Edward Peters administered oxygen from the time the boy was found until 1:10 p.m. when Deputy Coroner Harry Grant arrived and pronounced him dead. The men had responded to a call for help which had been put in by Mrs. Robert Weaver, 500 Bennett Ave., who, swimming at the beach, heard Rosemary Reis, 15, a companion of the boys, scream. Mrs. Weaver ran to her car, drove about two blocks to her home and telephoned for the police and firemen.

Deputy Coroner Harry Grant said he would ask Chief Deputy Sheriff Walter McKay to close Michigan Beach immediately and asked that all persons who are found swimming there be arrested and prosecuted.

Besides his parents, Ronald leaves a brother Bradley, three sisters, Beverly, Terry and Nancy, and two grandmothers, Mrs. Elizabeth Shroats, Orland Park and Mrs. Grace Gale, Delaware, Ohio.

The body was removed to the Schmaedeke funeral home in Orland where friends may call today and evening. Funeral services will be held in the Orland Park Methodist church Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock with the pastor Rev. Robert DeMoss officiating. Burial will be in Cooper's Memorial cemetery, Orland. An inquest will be held after July 4, when vacationing witnesses return.

Rev. J. Moor Dies; Wife From Frankfort

A marriage which took place in Frankfort, in October of 1907, was climaxed by death of the husband, Rev. J. J. Moor, retired Methodist minister, who passed away June 3 in a Bowling Green, Ohio hospital. The widow, Hulda Hollstein Moor is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Hollstein of Frankfort.

Rev. and Mrs. Moor were visiting two of their daughters in the Ohio city, when he was stricken with paralysis, on May 29 in the home of Mrs. J. P. Kennedy, one of the daughters. He was taken to the hospital, the following day.

Born at Vordenwald Zofingen Aargau, Switzerland, June 21, 1877, a son of Jacob and Louise Moor, the Rev. Moor came to this country in 1892 and graduated from German Wallace college, Berea, Ohio in 1904. He had planned to attend the 50th reunion of his graduating class on June 5.

In his early ministry the Rev. Moor served as pastor of German Methodist churches in Illinois and Wisconsin for 22 years, one of them being the church in Tinley Park which burned down several years ago. He was pastor of the German Methodist church in Chicago for three years just preceding the merger of German Methodism with the larger conference. The minister was transferred to the Northwest Indiana conference where he served at North Salen, Brownsburg, Sanford and Michigan City. His last pastorate was at DeMotte, Kniam and Rose-lawn, Ind. Rev. Moor retired in 1942.

Surviving besides the widow are Harold F. Moore, Madison, Wis.; Mrs. James Paul Kennedy and Mrs. Martin L. Hanna, Bowling Green, Ohio; and Mrs. Ward L. Miller, of DeKalb, Ill., as well as 12 grandchildren; a brother of St. Joe, Mich., two sisters, Mrs. Frueling and Mrs. Young of Hammond, Ind.

Funeral services were conducted from the Young Memorial Chapel in Bowling Green Saturday afternoon, June 5, with the Rev. Paul J. Wachs officiating. Interment was at Oak Grove cemetery, Bowling Green, Ohio.

Final arrangements are being made by the Girl Scouts of So. Cook Co. for the opening of the annual Day Camps and the 2-week established Camp Mainis-

THE X-RAY

By Science Features

The X-ray, a comparatively recent invention, is now one of the most widely used medical tools, both for diagnosing illnesses and for treatment. Discovered almost accidentally by a German physicist, Wilhelm Konrad von Roentgen, in 1895, the X-ray became almost immediately accepted as a tremendous aid to the doctor. Photographs, showing the inside of the body, allowed the doctor to see the exact location and cause of the disturbance under consideration. Prior to that, it was a hit-or-miss proposition, with the doctor probing and guessing.

An X-ray is the radiation of a certain very short ray of light. When Roentgen discovered these odd rays, he didn't know exactly what they were, so he labelled them "X" rays.

These rays are also employed to treat various diseases. A two million-volt machine has shown promise in the treatment of cancer and the ray has helped to reduce the "blue baby" menace, to name two of the newer uses that have been developed.

There are many different types of machines and methods that have been devised for special purposes. The dentist uses the machine to spot tooth decay; by using certain dyes, a specialist can see what is happening in the body's vital organs and most doctors have a fluoroscope in their office to view the living body.

Roentgen never made anything out of his discovery and died of cancer when he was 78 years old. But, as hundreds of experts continue to work on his principle and devise more effective aids for the doctor, the rest of the world benefits from his invention.

Help For The Asthmatic
Vacation time for most Americans means fun, relaxation and the recouping of physical resources. But for two million asthmatics it can be torture. For them the summer can be a time of labored, gasping breathing. The return of balmy weather means an upturn in the number of asthmatic attacks as well as in new cases.

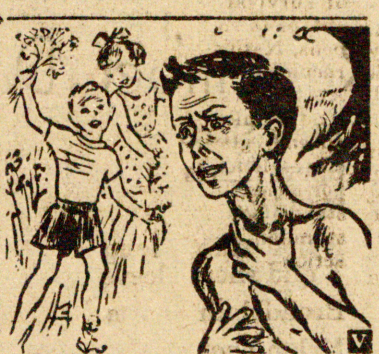

About one-third of the cases begin in children under ten. With the increasing birth rate the number of asthmatics is expected to rise.

Fortunately the average asthmatic attack is mild and is not dangerous. Frequent attacks, however, and forced breathing may stretch the lung tissue, possibly resulting in permanent damage.

Bronchial asthma is caused by the muscular constriction, and the congestion by mucus, of the smaller tubes in the lungs. Why the muscles constrict and why mucus is secreted from the glands that line the tubes remains a mystery, but in most cases an allergy is the culprit.

The best way to treat asthma is, of course, to find out what specific allergen is responsible and eliminate it. This is often easier said than done, for the allergen may be extremely difficult to uncover, and, even if it is found, it may be difficult to eliminate.

Medical treatment is, therefore, often the most practical approach to the problem of bronchial asthma. The adrenal hormone adrenaline has helped some asthmatics, but unfortunately this agent builds a "tolerance" in the patient so that ever increasing doses are required. Antihistamines and antibiotics and, more recently, hormonal drugs like cortisone have been used with varying results.

Two drugs, ephedrine and theophylline, have been most helpful; the former acts to reduce the secretion of mucus, the latter widens the passageways of the bronchial tubes. These two drugs have been combined into a single tablet, Tedral, to which has been added a sedative to relieve the asthmatic of much of the tension associated with the attack.

This three-pronged answer to bronchial asthma has had excellent results. If taken at the first signs of an attack it often prevents the condition from assuming major proportions; taken during the attack it acts speedily to reduce the severity and to bring breathing back to normal. A specially coated form of the tablet, which does not take effect for several hours, when taken before retiring, protects the asthmatic from middle-of-the-night attacks.

B. I. Plans Parade; July 5 Events Told

The Blue Island Lions Club's annual July 4 celebration will be held Monday, July 5 and will include several new features. Among them will be the competitive drills between five Illinois and Indiana American Legion drum and bugle corps, which will be held at the High School stadium, 127th and Sacramento ave. The contestants will compete for $100 in cash prizes. High school and elementary school band leaders will be judges.

Another feature of the day will be a Pony League baseball game at B. I.'s Recreation stadium, 123rd and Western ave. This game will follow the senior parade which will be held along with the junior parade in the afternoon.

The junior parade will feature a junior drum and bugle corps this year and the B. I. public school band is also expected to march. This parade will begin at 1 p.m. from New and Western, and proceed north to 123rd and Western. The senior parade, featuring professional and amateur floats, marching units and six American Legion drum and bugle corps will start at 1:20 p.m. from Vermont and Western and will also disband at 123rd and Western.

Another new feature this year will be the flag bedecked Western Avenue where 256 American flags will fly from light poles from 119 to 135 streets, a distance of over two miles.
William T. Ewing, president of the B. I. Lions club will be emcee at the evening program and will introduce Mayor John M. Hart, co-chairman of the event. The traditional hour and a half program of fireworks will culminate the evening portion of the show.

Philip Lohse, Senior parade chairman announced the following major musical units already pledged: Harvey Post No. 155, American Legion Drum & Bugle Corps, as well as Ardennes, Kan kakee, Norwood Park and Lafayette, Ind. drum and bugle corps, together with Chicago Stockyards Kilty band of Legion Post No. 333. Except for the Kilties, all other corps will compete in the drill competition in the evening.

Early parade entries include the Bud Billiken Foyettes, of Robbins, a group of 30 majorettes ranging from 11 to 14 years old, led by Mrs. Rosalie Foy, of Robbins.

The entire celebration is free, financed through contributions from business, industry and individuals of the community.

Clay Class June 23 For 8-15 Yr. Olds

An unusual opportunity to learn a useful hobby will be offered youngsters from 8 to 15 years old this summer at the Community Center Foundation, Southwest Highway at 127th Street, Palos Park. Beginning Wednesday afternoon from 1 to 3 p.m., June 23, the course consists of 8 lessons. The fee for the course is $8.

Teachers will be Mrs. Howard Fish, of Palos Park, and Dorothy Marvin, Palos Heights. The youngsters will be taught to make useful objects and ornamental figures of various sizes, shapes and colors. Girls Softball Notes

by Ruth

The Frankfort Girls Softball team traveled to 143rd and Broadway in North Harvey Wednesday night for their first league encounter out of three tries. Rain and diamond conditions made the first two games on the schedule impossible to play. Frankfort lost to these hard hitting North Harvey girls by a score of 12 to 8 in a seven inning game.

Just before the game got underway, the coaches announced that Irene Benck was their selection of the girl to serve as captain for the coming season. D. Szalaius was the starting pitcher for N. Harvey with C. Kennedy doing the receiving. Heimlich came on the mound in the fourth and D. Szalaius took over the catching with Kennedy going into the infield. Hemlich lasted only two innings, however, because Frankfort got a rally going and Szalaius went back to pitching. Betty Lastor came on in the seventh and pitched the remainder.

For Frankfort, it was Arleen Flesher on the hill and Carole Peterson behind the plate.

Frankfort was held scoreless until the fourth inning when Barbara Hauser got on base on a fielder's choice, stole second, and came home on Marilyn Boleman's triple. The fifth inning netted five runs on a base knock for Arleen Flesher, a walk for Carole Peterson, a single for Lois Steinbach, followed by triples for Irene Benck and Barbara Hauser. Barbara stole home on an overthrow into the sidelines. In the sixth inning, Arleen started off with a single. Carole Peterson drew another walk, and then both got home on Jean Lentz's long single to give Frankfort a total of eight runs.

North Harvey scored one run the 1st inning thanks to A. Cole's triple; four runs in the third on a single, a double and a triple, followed by a home run for Hemlich. A homerun by lefty G. Matthys sent our center fielder scurrying for the fence making N. Harvey's sixth tally. In the fifth inning, Kennedy singled and scored easily on Dawn Volkner's triple, with Dawn going home on the next infield out. At the end of the fifth inning, the score was all knotted up at eight each, but North Harvey untied the knot by scoring another four runs on a pair of doubles and homeruns. G. Matthys and Hemlich getting their second homeruns of the evening.

The first of the seventh netted

Frankfort nothing but three outs and a walk during the victory 12-8.

On Friday evening the girls traveled to Matteson to play a makeup game only to find on getting there that the booking dates were a week apart. Nevertheless, the Matteson manager got together most of his team and the two teams played a practice game with Frankfort on top 19 to 5.

The activity for Frankfort for the next weeks is as follows: Friday, June 18 at Matteson, game time 6:30 pm.

Monday, June 21, Oak Forest here, game time 6:30 pm.

Thursday, June 24 at Wilmington under lights. (non league tilt).

Wednesday, June 30 Tinley Park here, game time 6:30 pm.

Wednesday, July 7 at Steger, game time 6:30 pm.

So this is HOUSEKEEPING
BY SHIRLEY STUART
Sometimes you can get just so far in being subtle and clever... and then you outsmart yourself! For days I carefully planned a buildup designed to bring Jeff around to my way of thinking about acquiring a new washing machine. Since I had the 1954 revolutionary Whirlpool wringer-type washer in mind, I figured the best approach was to emphasize the new look for changing times. Casualty and gradually I pointed out the new appearance of everything from trains to toasters, women's fashions to automobiles, water pitchers to bed sheets. When Jeff began tossing in a few ideas of his own I was sure I was on pretty safe ground and started to hit home with my basic purpose.

"Say, Jeff, you know all the conversations we've had about the new appearance of everything? I saw something today that really stopped me! I guess everyone's always taken for granted that wringer-type washing machines had to be as squat and bulky and unattractive as our old wreck. But you should see the new Surgomatic washer! It's completely streamlined with a beautiful rotunda cabinet from top to bottom. Really a handsome piece of machinery. And it won't take a back seat to any washer, in or out of the budget class."

Jeff obliged with some interested comments so I was sure I had scored and began pitching more convincing details. Happily I described push-button controls on the front panel which regulate washing action and water drainage while an exclusive timer dial automatically clicks off any washing time desired for various fabrics. At the end of a wash period the machine shuts off and the timer rings a bell to let you know the job is done!

That night I went to sleep peacefully, convinced that my clever groundwork would net me my prize. The following morning Jeff emerged from his routine shower and shave session and beamingly announced:

"Your propaganda worked. Here's the new look you wanted!"

He had shaved off his moustache!

the job. Just off the press, the 1953 edition shows that 34,500 workers suffered accidental death off the job, while 15,000 were killed by accidents at work. Off the job accidents also resulted in a greater production loss to the nation's industry. Workers injured off the job in a year lost a total of 65,000,000 man days, compared with 45,000,000 man days lost by workers on the job. Non fatal injuries to workers off the job totalled about 2,600,000 while on job injuries were about 2,000,000.

Excluding sleeping hours, workers spend about twice as much time away from work as they do at work. But even when the exposure factor is taken into consideration, the off the job death rate is higher.

ALPINE

Mrs. E. Mrosek
Orland 41-J-1

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pelouquin at St. James hospital in Chicago Heights Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Pelouquin was in a critical condition all day Saturday and night. She was given numerous transfusions but it wasn't until blood with the proper coagulating qualities was obtained that she began to rally. From thereon, to the relief of her relatives and many friends who had been keeping vigil, her recovery has been rapid. The new daughter weighed 6 lbs. 11 ounces and has been named Linda Sue. The Pelouquins have two other daughters, Nancy, 12, and Carol 7.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Mitchell, daughter Joyce of Chicago, and her sister and family. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Felsch, Sandra and Patsy enjoyed a potluck picnic dinner at the latter's home Sunday afternoon. Nancy and Carol Pelouquin who are guests in the Felsch home, were also present.

Sharon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lauffer, had her tonsils removed in Silver Cross hospital, Joliet, Tuesday. She is recuperating nicely at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Walker of Chicago were supper guests of their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Walker, Saturday.

Arthur, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Walker, returned home Friday evening from Little Company of Mary hospital, Evergreen Park where he had gone because of a ruptured appendix being suspected. Although there was no rupture, the need of an appendectomy is indicated. Surgery is being delayed until Arthur's resistance, which was lowered by a cold, has been built up.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Reeves observed their sixteenth wedding anniversary Saturday.

The Alpine Indians, a little League ball team, played a few innings of a practice game with a Mokena team Sunday evening.

Arthur Holz Sr., who has been a patient in Little Company of Mary hospital, Evergreen Park, as the result of injuries received in a car accident, returned home Saturday morning. He seems to be getting along all right.

Pfc. Arthur Holz Jr. who has been home on furlough, left for his station Friday morning.

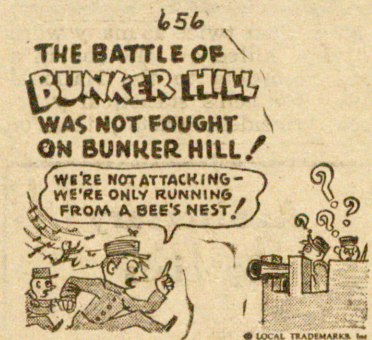

Judge John Cole, who resides on 104th ave., was admitted to Passavant hospital Chicago, where he underwent surgery Wednesday evening. He seems to be progressing satisfactorily and is expected home Sunday.

Correction: It was John Kohl who also resides on 104 ave., who returned home June 3 from Silver Cross hospital, Joliet, where he had gone May 28 for surgery, not John Cole as stated in last week's issue of this paper. The error came about through calls to the office from those who, knowing Judge Cole was scheduled for operative procedure, thought an error had been made in the original item which had correctly stated the news regarding Mr. Kohl's admission to the hospital.

Margaret Ann Reeves, 6 month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Reeves, was christened in services at the Trinity Lutheran church in Tinley Park Sunday morning by Rev. Carl Hoeh. Mr. Reeves' cousin, Mrs. Barbara Connors of East Hazelcrest, was godmother and Mrs. Reeves' nephew, Gordon James of Harvey, godfather.

Mr. and Mrs. Reeves entertained at a gathering of relatives and friends in the afternoon and evening in honor of the occasion. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Vorrath and daughter Nancy, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Szurak, son Stephen, Mrs. Harry Reeves, Mrs. Barbara Connors all of East Hazelcrest. Also present were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Janes and son Gordon of Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Janes and son Wayne of Riverdale, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Janes and son Charles of Dolton, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ebert of Blue Island, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Vaitkus and daughter Terry of Berwyn and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mrosek, Carla and Edward.

UNDULANT FEVER

Hundreds of Illinois citizens are stricken each year by undulant fever, an often painful and crippling disease which can strike with baffling suddenness and linger for an agonizingly long time.

A disease which is harbored in animals, it is passed to man principally through raw milk or by direct contact with such infected animal hosts as cows, swine and goats.

Unfortunately, this is one of the very few diseases which has shown a history of increasing incidence in the state during recent decades. Before 1930, undulant fever was almost a medical curiosity. Now, almost 450 cases are reported to the health department every year.

Treatment

A specific method of overcoming the undulant fever infection has not yet been found. Even the newest "wonder drugs" have afforded disappointing relief.

Bed rest with a nutritious diet is generally advised to offset symptoms of undulant fever. Water and other liquids should be consumed in quantity to replace body liquids lost due to excessive sweating.

Every case should remain under the care of a doctor.

Prevention

Inadequate known methods of treating undulant fever lead to the conclusion that prevention is the prime control measure. Prevention calls for pasteurization of milk and milk products. It also necessitates detection and elimination of infected animals and a high degree of care in the handling of carcasses of animals which may be diseased.

Control of undulant fever demands the joint efforts of the livestock producer, the dairyman, veterinarians, physicians and the public health worker. Such a program now is being conducted on the public health front by the Illinois Department of Public Health and in the field of livestock disease control by the Department of Agriculture.

Additional information about this disease and its prevention is included in the booklet, "Brucellosis," which may be obtained upon request from the Illinois Department of Public Health, Springfield.

Shuman Tells About Re-apportionment

Charles B. Shuman, president of the Illinois Agricultural Association announced today that the Board of Directors of the Association at its monthly meeting on May 21 reaffirmed its position in favor of amending the State Constitution to provide for representation by area in one house of the State legislature and by population in the other. In line with that position the Association agreed to give full support to the campaign to secure adoption by the voters of the proposed Blue Ballot Reapportionment Amendment.

Shuman is also co-chairman of the Illinois Committee for Constitutional Revision, the civic group carrying on the campaign for the Amendment which will be submitted to Illinois voters at the November 2nd General Election.

He pointed out that the proposed Amendment is much more satisfactory than the present Constitutional provisions, which if enforced, would give Cook County control of both the State Senate and House.

"There is general agreement," said Shuman, that no one county should control both Houses of the State Legislature. Downstate citizens should welcome this opportunity to change the present Constitutional requirement."

Shuman described the proposed Amendment as a compromise, fair to downstate as well as to Chicago and to the expanding but largely residential country towns of Cook county.

"Hold your nose! and last one under the water is a monkey's uncle!" yells Allen Grybash when a formation of future swimmers scurried into Bass Lake, Ind. Knowing the appetites of her brood, Mrs. Nick Grybash was more interested in getting lunches ready. Robert Segvich peers searchingly into the water with shaded eyes and asks, "Where's the fish?" His brother Michael picks up a dried up frame of bones remarking, "The cat beat you to it!" Darlene Grybash and Mary Segvich floated contently on air filled inter tubes until Billy Vanda disturbed their peace trying to dunk first one then the other. T/Sgt. Adam Rusin tried his army technique in row boating with three of his youngest passengers, Bernice, Roy and Nancy Grybash, screaming, then smiles of pleasure as their uncle rowed them in circles.

After a three hour splashing good time everyone piled into the station wagon, reluctantly leaving for home at 190 Wolf road, Mokena, with moans and groans of "Ouch, my sun burnt! Mama, please don't go over so many bumps, please —oh, what a good time we had today!"

BABSON SAYS—

Financial Bureau, Inc.

Some of my young friends feel that a recent pessimistic column of mine will handicap them in getting a good position. Hence they wish me to tell the optimistic side of the story. There is much newspaper talk about the delinquency of juveniles, the carelessness of youth, and the lowering of school and college standards.

Of course, the destruction of school or any property should be given the severest criticism; but some feel these crimes are only a natural reaction from the moral letdown that always has accompanied periods of great wars. So much has been written by me regarding the pessimistic side of the "modern youth" problem that I really should pass along some optimistic words, especially now at graduation time.

Stores are having some trouble from stealing by employees; but this has been due partly to the store's carelessness. When it comes to the industry, initiative and loyalty of the honest ones, I must admit that the high school graduates today may possess some good traits to a greater extent than any previous generation. Modern youth may wish to work fewer hours; but with telephones, calculating machines, and dictaphones, they may accomplish more in a 40 hour week than I did when working 50 hours per week. They claim five times as much!

Now as to wages: On the wall of a store adjoining my Wellesley office is a tin sign dated 1904 reading:

"The Boston Herald, price one cent."

One of the leading newspapers of New England, The Boston Herald now sells for five cents. We employers are disturbed at the wages which "modern youth" ask; but these wages more than five times what we paid high school graduates fifty years ago!

Paleontology is the science of ancient life. Recently, Doctor Barnum Brown, Curator Emeritus of the American Museum of Natural History, a leading paleontologist, told me that the facts prove conclusively every normal generation is abler than its predecessor. The new generation may do things which we oldsters do not like; but it has other qualities which more than offset our objections. This improvement, he claims, is due to many factors, one of which is the better diet which each generation has, more protein, more fruits and vegetables, and especially a greater variety of food.

When I attended high school, I despised such subjects as Latin, Greek and certain higher mathematics. When I would tell the teacher that I would never use these subjects, the teacher would reply, "These are taught to help you develop your brain." Yet today, psychologists tell me that driving automobiles through traffic does far more to develop the brains of modern youth than did any of these high school subjects which were taught us. In fact, it may be that automobiles are today doing more to sharpen high school brains than many of the textbooks which I studied.

I am scared stiff when riding with one of my grandchildren. The way he drives "in and out" of traffic astonishes me. Yet, he never has an accident. The automobile may make the present generation superior to the pre-automobile generation to which I belonged. Furthermore, instead of urging youth to drive slower we should perhaps be content to urge careful driving. The best brains are said to be developed by alert, careful driving.

Therefore, I should say that 1954 graduates, who avoid liquor and excessive smoking, may be the best we have ever had an opportunity to hire. Perhaps we employers may well place them in the jobs of us oldsters who cannot think as fast or visualize as quickly as we once could. In fact, one of the best tests which an employment manager can use on applicants may be to ask for the applicant's auto record. It may tell more than high school marks! I do not know.

Christian Science Churches

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" will be the subject of the Lesson Sermon to be read at Christian Science services Sunday.

Man's dominion over all materiality is stressed in the readings from the King James Version of the Bible as well as those from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy. The Scriptural selections include the account as given in Matthew (14:22-32) of how Christ Jesus and Peter walked on the sea.

Readings from Science and Health include the following:

"In proportion as matter loses to human sense all entity as man, in that proportion does man become its master. He enters into a diviner sense of the facts, and comprehends the theology of Jesus as demonstrated in healing the sick, raising the dead, and walking over the wave. All these deeds manifested Jesus' control over the belief that matter is substance, that it can be the arbiter of life or the constructor of any form of existence" (369:5.)

The Golden Text is from Psalms: "God hath spoken once; twice have I heard this; that power belongeth unto God" (62: 11).

Amos on Alcohol

Lesson for June 13, 1954

THE prophets of Israel are singularly up-to-date. They lived thousands of miles away from here, thousands of years ago. Yet the problems of mankind are much the same then as now. The prophet's inspired eyes could see what was wrong with the world around him, and he would say bluntly what it was. But few prophets often used that blanket word "sin." Nobody's in favor of sin. What the prophet always did was to name certain particular sins. These habits, these acts, these customs, he would say—these are what our country is dying from. These things are fatal. So it was in 800 B.C., so it is in 1954 A.D.

Liquor Is Not Alone

It is only fanatics who believe that some one sin is by itself destroying the country. No sin, in fact, exists by itself. Also it is true that when a country is destroyed, as Israel was destroyed, it dies of more than one disease. The prophet Amos named a number of evils which were eating into the vitality of his nation and people. The consumption of liquor was one of these. But Amos never said that liquor was the only thing wrong with his country. He associates it with selfishness, greed, indifference to real problems, adultery, dishonesty and other sins. One of the bad features of liquor is that it attaches itself to other evils and makes them worse. There would be speeding on the highways even if everyone were always cold sober; but drinking drivers make the problem worse and the accidents more often fatal. (There really can't be such a thing as a drunken driver—a drunk can't drive at all. It's the drinking drivers who make the trouble.) There would be murders if whiskey had never been heard from. But every day murders are reported in the papers that would no doubt never have been committed if everyone concerned had been sober at the time. Rape and seduction are not unheard of by any means, in Mohammedan countries where alcoholic drinks are completely forbidden. But liquor pushes many young people over the edge who without it could retain their self-control and self-respect, but with it in them, lose both.

'The Best People'

In the time of Amos he took note of some quite "respectable" people who were drinkers. Church-goers he mentions first of all, people who drink wine "in the house of their god." (This of course has nothing whatsoever to do with the communion service, a sacrament instituted by Christ.) He condemns these church-goers more than he does the riff-raff. It is worse for some people to drink than it is for others; and perhaps worst of all for church people. After all is said and done, people who know little and may care less about what is right and what is wrong, will think that anything a church member does must be all right. One church member who is known to drink, even if he is very temperate about it, can do more harm than a dozen alcoholics. Another respectable class Amos mentions are the women of wealth and social position. Amos is not exactly respectful to these ladies; on the contrary he calls them cattle, "kine of Bashan"—a specially fat kind of cattle of these days. Again, the use of liquor by wives of successful men, women who are leaders in their communities, does more harm than all the drinking down in the poolrooms. The harm done to others by the drinker is often greater than what he does to himself.

Amos Saw It Coming

Amos predicted that his country would soon fall because of its sins, and fall it did. No doubt the drinkers of his day thought their liquor drinking helped them to escape from their troubles; Amos could see that it only brought on more troubles. The truth about liquor is seldom to be had from people who are its victims, more seldom still from those who make money by it. Ministers, doctors, welfare workers, see the situation from the standpoint of those who have to try to patch up the wrecks. Do you want a strong America? Strong countries, like strong people, are not made so by strong drink

Govt. Now Selling Surplus Stocks

A vigorous sales program to sell some of the government owned farm products seems to be paying off.

L. J. Norton, University of Illinois farm economist, says the program has resulted from a decision by the U. S. Department of Agriculture that it has to sell these products at prices people will pay.

"The lesson has been learned" Norton states, "that the way to reduce stocks is to sell, and the way to sell is to price products so that they can compete in the markets where consumers or merchants buy."

In the last week of April, the government sold nearly six million bushels of corn, ten million bushels of wheat and 500 thousand bushels of oats, all at the market price.

Large sales of dried skim milk to feed mixers at three and a half to four cents a pound are reported. Norton says. This offer is made at a time when soy bean meal is scarce and high priced.

From July 1953 through January 1954, 52 million pounds of cottonseed oil and 111 million pounds of linseed oil were sold abroad. At the same time, Norton says, private traders sold more tallow and soybeans in foreign markets.

The USDA has offered to sell its dairy stocks to foreign buyers at world prices. At the same time it has moved to take over fewer products by reducing price supports. Recent lower butter prices have led to a 10 percent increase in butter use, according to statements by government officials.

Among the commodities for which price supports have been reduced during the past 12 months are cottonseed, soybeans, beans, peas and manufactured dairy products.
